A message from Miss Towler...

Dear Parents and Carers,

Last week we ended on such a high with the fabulous Everybody Dance Festival at York Theatre Royal. The children in Team Saturn were phenomenal and made Mr P, Mr Foster and myself so proud. It was a real treat to watch them perform and also to see the other schools' choreography as well. I know that the families who joined us were equally as impressed with the children as we were. What was even more special was that Team Saturn were the first group to perform! Big thanks to Mr P for all the hard work he put into the choreography and the performance. Thank you to both Mr Foster and Mr P for giving up their Friday night to support this event. As a small school I know that there are less staff to support with these kind of out of school activities and it is always very much appreciated when staff give up their time to help make memorable moments for the children!

Have a lovely Mothers Day weekend,

Caroline Towler,
Headteacher

How can I keep my child safe online? An update from our Computing Lead Mr Foster.

Good afternoon Team TPA,

You may be aware that the government has launched a consultation to gather views on how children can be better protected online. As young people spend more time using the internet for learning, socialising, and entertainment, the aim is to strengthen rules that keep them safe. The proposed reforms focus on making online platforms take greater responsibility for protecting children from harmful content and online risks. They also aim to improve reporting systems and ensure stronger age-appropriate protections. I will be sharing some of their advice and strategies over the coming weeks. Please see below the first installment of staying safe online!

Understanding critical thinking

Critical thinking means pausing before you believe something online. The internet is fun and useful, but it also has false information, as anyone can post online, not just experts or journalists.

It's about:

- asking questions and knowing that not everything is true
- helping your child think carefully to build their confidence, keep them safer, and guide them to make good choices online

Why critical thinking matters

Children can find it hard to know what is true online.

To help them you can encourage them:

- to pause and think before they believe, share or act on something they've read online
- to learn to question and check facts before trusting information
